

Investigative Agility and Powerful Reporting Help Save Costs

Magnet AXIOM is a Go-To Solution for Corporate Investigations

THE CHALLENGE

Cases primarily consist of those considered most crucial to businesses, including insider threats and intrusion incident response, intellectual property and trade secret theft and fraud. Additionally, cases sometimes involve employee misconduct including harassment or abuse and misuse of corporate assets.

Important artifacts in these cases usually include email and messaging services such as Skype for Business or Slack. Challenges, however, include case management, communicating with non-technical stakeholders, and unique deployments that can require a customized team approach.

“AXIOM is our go-to solution for looking at evidence quickly and effectively. The software is quick, effective, and consistently improving to better meet the needs of investigators. With a recent case, AXIOM was able to quickly show us artifacts that allowed us to present to HR and Legal quickly to change the scope of the investigation. This change in scope allowed us to get a jump on the case in a direction that we may not have seen as quickly as we did. This allowed us to save the company a huge amount of money in litigation costs.

— Robert Dare, Manager, Digital Forensics, Siemens AG

COMPANY OVERVIEW

A U.S. subsidiary of German global conglomerate Siemens AG, Siemens Corporation is one of the world's largest producers of energy-efficient, resource-saving systems for power generation and transmission, medical diagnosis, and other infrastructure. About 50,000 people out of a totally employee population of 372,000 are employed in the United States.

HOW AXIOM HELPS

AXIOM's ability to retrieve data from the cloud using Office365 administrative credentials can be crucial in all of these types of cases. AXIOM recovers a wide variety of email, messaging, file storage, and other types of data from cloud accounts. With the ability to combine cloud data with data found on computers and mobile devices, AXIOM can present a complete picture of evidence and intent.

However, one of AXIOM's most important capabilities is its flexible exporting and reporting options. When it comes to presenting case findings to stakeholders such as human resources or legal teams, the ability to visually represent evidence—using timelines, conversation views, and even links between artifacts and systems via Connections in AXIOM—can make the difference in determining how to scope casework and proceed using results.
